We are able to offer the Parker - Racor range of Water Desalination & purification systems. Following the acquisition of Aqua Pro Inc in 2008, Parker Hannifin have been developing the world-wide distribution network through it's Racor Division. Aqua Pro is recognised as the leader in on-board marine reverse osmosis products, and their innovative, engineered systems are currently in use on the most advanced Navy ships and premier motor yachts. Marketed under the brand names of Village Marine Tec. and Offshore Marine Labs, Parker Racor now offers an extensive range of desalination products to complement it's marine market business through it's authorised distributor: ASAP Supplies Ltd.

The product range features 11 base models which have been developed to suit various market requirements and applications. We offer framed units in horizontal and vertical format, space saving semi-modular and modular units. All major components which go in to the production of these World renowned units are manufactured in-house at the USA facilities, ensuring unbeatable quality and performance levels. All models use Titanium heads on the high pressure pumps.
